

THE WATER CITIZEN NETWORK AND KEYS TO WATER IN CONGRESS PROGRAM

The Water Citizen Network™ is a non-partisan, non-advocacy media network providing water news, education, and WaterTainment™ for people passionate about water.

The Water Citizen Network does NOT engage in lobbying activities.

The Keys to Water in Congress™ (KWIC™) Program teaches Water Citizens the processes, the people, and the ways to participate in water issues in the U.S. Congress. This program provides the tools, information, and community support for people passionate about water (Water Citizens) to learn to more effectively track, testify on, and transform water policy.

WATER CITIZEN'S 2014 KWIC QUICK GUIDE TO SELECTED CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES ADDRESSING WATER ISSUES

The Water Citizen Network created the Keys to Water in Congress (KWIC) as an education program for Water Citizens (people passionate about water) to learn the processes, people, and ways to participate on water issues in Congress, learning to track, testify on, or transform water issues. Whether you are an expert, advocate, or activist - working on your own or with a larger organization - coming to Capitol Hill or following water-related activities in Congress from your home or office - the KWIC Quick Guide provides easy access to information on selected House and Senate Committees that address water issues and how you can find them.
